1 GROUP SWIFT TO ATTACK BOMBER COMMANDS UNSUNG HEROES

Patrick Otter

Foreword by Air Vice Marshal Stuart Atha

9781781590942 • RRP: £25.00 • Illustrated • 368 Pages

Patrick Otter presents us here with a well-researched and accurate account of the largely 'forgotten heroes' of 1 Group, RAF Bomber Command during the Second World War. The narrative moves at a lively pace, combining appropriate levels of detail regarding operations, aircraft, bases and incidents, with background details that set the squadron's exploits within the wider context of unfolding war.

This is an overdue tribute to a major contributing factor towards the ending of the Second World War in Europe, highlighting the superiority of the RAF equipment made available and tactics adopted as the war developed. The humanity and professionalism of the participants, flung against amazing odds, shines through and a real feeling of engagement at the forefront of events is conveyed through these tales of squadron fraternity amongst the men of 1 Group.

Complete with maps and photographic illustrations throughout, it serves as a fitting tribute to this particular branch of Bomber Command, their losses, victories and enduring legacy.
